Abstract:

Phillips and Sarnak conjectured that when an arithmetic surface is deformed cusp forms are destroyed. I will explain how numerical computations of poles of Eisenstein series can be used to investigate this phenomenon and also present some numerical evidence of destruction of $\Gamma_0(5)$-cusp forms.